 A photograph showing a group of children gathered around a table outdoors. On the table are several blue buckets, white trays, and what appears to be scientific equipment or specimens. A person wearing a hat and a checkered shirt is interacting with the children, possibly explaining something. The children are looking at the items on the table.
